Characters From The Book: A TALE OF THREE (3) SISTERS

[ENYOKIA ASLELERI]

"The Princess of Vikistv" / Eldest of the Three Sisters

BASIC INFORMATION

Full Name: Enyokia Asleleri

Book: A Tale of Three Sisters

Nicknames/Aliases: The Princess of Her People

Birth: [Date TBD] | Torad, Vikistv

Death: ~ 3 months after arriving in Gherci | Gherci | Officially: deadly illness; likely burned. Died building infrastructure for the Solisian Empire. Buried in an unmarked mass grave, later reburied individually by Vandrea.

Age at Story Start: 25

Book(s) Featured In: A Tale of Three Sisters

PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION

Ethnicity: Vikistv (Half-Vikistian; mother was from Equateiy [CONFIRM ORIGIN - see Isenaylini notes])

Height/Build: 5'2" - frail-looking, appears far younger than her actual age
Distinguishing Features: Very long hair kept in a single neat braid; cut her hair before her wedding per Vikistvian custom to symbolize a new beginning with her husband
Typical Attire:
How Others Describe Them: Considered the princess of her people; always nice, always happy

FAMILY & RELATIONSHIPS

Parents: City Lord Ceval Asleleri of Torad (father); Isenaylini Leum/Asleleri of Negiet (mother, deceased - died when Enyokia was ~5) [CONFIRM TIMELINE - see notes on mothers]
Siblings: Vandrea Asleleri (younger sister), Apharia Asleleri (youngest sister, different mother)
Spouse(s)/Romantic Interests: Natav Yailk of Torad (fiancé; engaged at story start, wedding was being planned)
Children: None
Key Relationships: Ceval (co-ran the agricultural farm with him); functioned as a surrogate mother to Vandrea and Apharia after their mother's death; Natav (fiancé — Grand Sorcerer-to-be); Grand Sorcerer Sevtor (father's close friend)

BACKGROUND

Childhood: Only sibling old enough to remember their mother Isenaylini [CONFIRM TIMELINE]. Essentially raised Vandrea and Apharia as if she were their mother. Worked alongside her father on the agricultural farm from a young age.
Formative Events: Mother's death (forced her into a maternal role at age 5); growing up sheltered from the horrors of the outside world by her father
Education/Training:
Before the Story Begins: Running the agriculture farm with her father; preparing for her wedding to Natav; living a modest, upbeat life in Torad

PERSONALITY

Core Traits: Clever, Self-indulgent, Contemplative, Sensitive
Greatest Fear:

Greatest Desire:

Fatal Flaw: Acts invincible when protecting her sisters - overestimates her own resilience

Secret They Keep:

What They Want vs What They Need:

BELIEFS & VALUES

Religious Affiliation:

Political Stance:

Moral Code: Protector; shields her sisters from the cruelty of the world at all costs, even treating them like children despite their ages

What They Would Kill For:

What They Would Die For: Her sisters

ABILITIES & SKILLS

Magic (if applicable):

Division:

Level:

Specific Abilities:

Combat Skills:

Other Talents: Agriculture/farming

Weaknesses: Physically frail; her small stature and fragile build made her vulnerable in slavery

ARC & DEVELOPMENT

Where They Start: A happy, modest princess-figure preparing for her wedding, the stable center of her family

Key Turning Points: Solis conquers Vikistv; father is executed; Natav (who sold the country out) is also executed; Enyokia is spared but sold into slavery — Solis says she was “probably just used by her father and fiancé”

Where They End: Dies in slavery in Gherci ~ 3 months after arrival, likely burned.

Her body is dumped in an unmarked mass grave with other Vikistv people.

Vandrea later finds her grave after 7 months of searching, reburries her individually, and buries pieces of her own skin and hair with her sister.

Theme They Embody: The forgotten victim - the sister no one remembers, who died unmourned in a stranger's land. The first casualty of the Patton dynasty's expansion.

ROLE IN STORY

Narrative Function: Represents the cost of colonization on the most innocent; her death is the wound that never heals for Vandrea

Key Scenes: Wedding preparations; Solis's conquest of Vikistv; being separated from her sisters and sold into slavery

Relationships That Drive Plot: Her death is the core of Vandrea's guilt (Vandrea chose to run with Apharia instead of rescuing Enyokia) and fuels Vandrea's 10,000-year vengeance

Impact on Other Characters: Her loss breaks Vandrea fundamentally - Vandrea never forgives herself for hesitating

Memorable Lines:

NOTES

Name meaning: "Enyokia" is the traditional Dorrenan word for "Love"

Favorite colors: White and blue

Cut her hair before her wedding per Vikistvian culture (new beginning symbolism)

She and her father worked nonstop to shield Vandrea and Apharia from the world's cruelty

Enyokia was the only sibling who had memories of their mother

Unresolved Questions:

—Exact birth date needed

- Details of her time in slavery before death
- Was she definitely burned, or is that Vandrea's assumption? (Vandrea reasons that illness/disease wouldn't be able to kill her)

Connections to Track:

- Vandrea's guilt arc (chose to flee with Apharia instead of rescuing Enyokia immediately)
- Vandrea's speech about Enyokia during Crown of Glory confrontation with Minara
- Unmarked grave location in Gherci

Enyokia was sold into debt slavery after her father Ceval's execution. She died in slavery before Vandrea could rescue her. The timeline of events: after Vandrea and Apharia escaped, while Apharia was with Soli, and before Apharia's death - Enyokia died without her sisters ever reaching her.

Enyokia's death was the first wound that never healed for Vandrea. It is the foundation of Vandrea's transformation into a vengeance-obsessed figure. Vandrea carries the specific guilt of having chosen to run with Apharia instead of immediately going back for Enyokia. This choice - survival over rescue haunts every decision Vandrea makes for the next ten thousand years.

[VANDREA ASLELERI]

"The Great Witch" / Middle Sister / Macenja Loraonmenti Patton

Full Name: Vandrea Asleleri

Book: A Tale of Three Sisters

Nicknames/Aliases: "The Wise Woman" (A Princess in Love era); Macenja Loraonmenti Patton (Crown of Glory era - assumed identity); "The Great Witch"

Birth: [Date TBD] | Torad, Vikistv

Death: During events of A Crown of Glory | [Location TBD] | [Circumstances TBD - the last thing she sees is a rose garden]

Age at Story Start: 22

Book(s) Featured In: A Tale of Three Sisters, A Princess in Love, A Crown of Glory

PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION

Ethnicity: Half-Vikistian (father: Ceval of Vikistv; mother: Isenaylini, from Equateiy [CONFIRM ORIGIN])

Height/Build: 5'6" (wears very tall heels giving her a ~ 5'9" look); slightly more masculine build than her sisters; taller than both

Distinguishing Features: Described as "creepy-looking" compared to her sisters
Typical Attire:

How Others Describe Them: Creepy-looking; beautiful (her name literally means "Beauty") but in a way that unsettles

FAMILY & RELATIONSHIPS

Parents: City Lord Ceval Asleleri of Torad (father, executed); Isenaylini

Leum/Asleleri of Negiet (mother, deceased) [CONFIRM TIMELINE]

Siblings: Enyokia Asleleri (older sister, died in slavery); Apharia Asleleri (younger sister, different mother, killed by Vapaz)

Spouse(s)/Romantic Interests: Heian Orana (fiancé — killed with House Orana by Solis; Vandrea never truly loved him, felt empty when he kissed her; mourned him briefly)

Children: None

Key Relationships: Apharia (fled together, protected her); Soli/Paxtino-Ekhasostio (entrusted Apharia to him; later vowed to kill him); Renedin (made deal for immortality and power)

BACKGROUND

Childhood: Second daughter of the City Lord. Had tremendous magical power from a young age, which surprised people because she was not full Vikistian. Very sheltered - never learned much about the outside world. Hot-headed with anger management issues. Regularly took a drug called Haitak.

Formative Events: Mother's death; being engaged to Heian Orana (loveless match); the fall of Vikistv; her father's execution; fleeing with Apharia; discovering

Enyokia's death; receiving Apharia and her niece's corpses from Soli

Education/Training:

Before the Story Begins: Living in Torad as the City Lord's second daughter, engaged to Heian Orana, sheltered and hot-tempered

Core Traits: Hot-headed, brash, feminine but with an edge, fiercely protective, angry

Greatest Fear:

Greatest Desire: Revenge - against Solis, the gods, the humans. Everyone who contributed to her sisters' deaths.

Fatal Flaw: Feeds grief with hatred; unable to let go

Secret They Keep:

What They Want vs What They Need: WANTS vengeance and suffering for the Patton bloodline. NEEDS to grieve and forgive herself for failing Enyokia.

BELIEFS & VALUES

Religious Affiliation: Turns against all the gods of new after Apharia's death

Political Stance:

Moral Code: Evolves from protective older sister to "make everyone who contributed suffer"

What They Would Kill For: Her sisters (and eventually, their memory)

What They Would Die For: Her sisters

Magic (if applicable):

Division: Life magic initially; taps into Death magic (Chaos, Destruction, the Peculiar) — the taboo side

Level: Tremendous power from a young age (surprising given she's half-Vikistian)

Specific Abilities: First shown choking a man unconsciously (death magic); uses magic to shield herself and Apharia while fleeing; disguise magic; later receives massive power boost from Renedin, including immortality and shapeshifting/illusion

Combat Skills:

Other Talents: Selling flowers, herbs, and wood (survival skills learned in exile)

Weaknesses: Haitak dependency (at story start); grief and guilt over Enyokia

ARC & DEVELOPMENT

Where They Start: A sheltered, hot-headed young woman standing in a rose garden, preparing for her sister's wedding, referring to Solis as "the one with golden hair" because she's never learned about the outside world

Key Turning Points:

1. Fleeing Vikistv with Apharia after Solis's conquest
2. First use of death magic (choking the Equateiy townsman who insults her family)
3. Letting Apharia go with Soli - trusting a god to protect her sister better than she could
4. Discovering Enyokia's unmarked grave in Gherci (~ 7 months of searching)
5. Soli arriving with Apharia and her niece's corpses - the breaking point
6. Hearing Renedin's whisper asking if she wants revenge

Where They End (in Three Sisters): Standing in a rose garden in Vikistv, grasping a dirty dahlia, hearing Renedin's voice. Sets her on the 10,000-year path to Crown of Glory.

Theme They Embody: The mindset of those who experienced colonization. A broken woman feeding grief with hatred for millennia. Not a villain - a victim whose pain became monstrous.

Narrative Function: Central protagonist of A Tale of Three Sisters. The reader should never see her as a villain - she represents the colonized perspective.

Key Scenes: Rose garden (opening); fleeing through Silora forest; the choking scene in Equateiy; settling in Nedi Forest; letting Apharia go with Soli; finding Enyokia's grave in Gherci (cutting her own skin and hair to bury with her sister); receiving the bodies from Soli; burying Apharia and her niece; returning to Vikistv; rose garden (closing — Renedin's whisper)

Relationships That Drive Plot: Enyokia (guilt), Apharia (loss), Soli (betrayal of trust), Renedin (corruption), the Patton bloodline (10,000-year vengeance)

Impact on Other Characters: Her deal with Renedin shapes the entire future of the world through Crown of Glory

CHARACTER INSPIRATION

QUOTES

Memorable Lines:

Name meaning: "Vandrea" is the traditional Dorrenan word for "Beauty"

Favorite colors: Black and red

Rose garden motif: First appears in a rose garden (Three Sisters opening); last appears in a rose garden (Three Sisters closing); first appears in Crown of Glory in a rose garden; last thing she sees when she dies in Crown of Glory is a rose garden

Haitak: Drug she takes for anger management - needs KEY WORDS AND TERMS entry

The Equateiy townsman scene: First account of death magic - she hears a faint voice telling her to kill him; she feels "the darkness from deep within her soul"

She refers to Solis as "the one with golden hair" throughout Act 1 because of how sheltered she was Vandrea buried cuts of her thigh skin and locks of her hair with Enyokia's body

Never received a single letter from Apharia after she left with Soli

Immortality comes from Renedin - traded her soul's harmony with Noirta (eternal damnation after death; the 10,000-year revenge is also a 10,000-year delay of the Pertari Stairs)

VANDREA'S IMMORTALITY - ORIGIN

VANDREA'S IMMORTALITY

ORIGIN

Approximately 7,100 BR, after burying Apharia, Vandrea made a deal with Renedin (the Old God of dreams and the eternal plane) for immortality.

COST

The deal corrupted Vandrea's soul. She is damned to the Pertari Stairs upon death and has traded away the natural rebirth cycle in exchange for eternal life. By Minara's era, Vandrea has been alive for approximately 10,000 years.

POWERS GAINED

Through the deal with Renedin, Vandrea gained shapeshifting and illusion abilities. These are the powers she uses to assume the identity of Macenja Loraonmenti and maintain the deception for millennia.

[EXISTING NOTES FROM HUB - ALREADY IN DOC, DO NOT DUPLICATE:]

Plans: Demon attacks destabilize faith to weaken gods for Renedin's barrier-breaking plan

Motivation: Wants suffering, not just death. After 10,000 years of hatred, quick assassination would be unsatisfying. Wants Pattons to watch empire crumble, understand loss as she has.

Macenja replacement: Killed real Macenja Loraonmenti before imperial marriage, assumed identity using shapeshifting/illusion from Renedin's power.

Cover maintenance: Attempts to produce male heir with other men (knights killed afterward) were to maintain cover as legitimate empress desperate for succession.

Unresolved Questions:

- Exact birth date needed
- What happened to Heian Orana's body / her reaction to his family's extermination?
- How long between Renedin's whisper and the actual deal?

Connections to Track:

- Rose garden motif across all books
- Dahlia symbolism (grasping a dirty dahlia at the end)
- Enyokia speech during Crown of Glory confrontation with Minara
- Minara showing mercy = redemption arc closure
- Reincarnation connection: Minara is reincarnation of Soli and Apharia's daughter

APHARIA ASLELERI]

"The Great Temptress" / Youngest of the Three Sisters

BASIC INFORMATION

Full Name: Apharia Asleleri

Book: A Tale of Three Sisters

Nicknames/Aliases: "The Great Temptress" (name given by the gods after the Second War of the Gods)

Birth: [Date TBD] | Torad, Vikistv

Death: [Date TBD] | Killed by the god Vapaz as punishment for Soli breaking divine law

Age at Story Start: 19

Book(s) Featured In: A Tale of Three Sisters

PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION

Ethnicity: Half-Vikistian (father: Ceval of Vikistv; mother: Resaipa Mendreki)

Height/Build: [Not specified — shorter than Vandrea's 5'6"]

Distinguishing Features: Blonde hair (inherited from her maternal grandmother, also blonde); said to be as beautiful as her sisters

Typical Attire:

How Others Describe Them: Beautiful; naive

Parents: City Lord Ceval Asleleri of Torad (father, executed); Resaipa Mendreki (birth mother, died giving birth to her) [CONFIRM TIMELINE - see notes on mothers]

Siblings: Enyokia Asleleri (oldest sister, different mother); Vandrea Asleleri (middle sister, different mother)

Spouse(s)/Romantic Interests: Soli (Paxtino and Ekhasostio - twin gods sharing one body; her "one true love"; she became pregnant by him)

Children: One daughter (unnamed - killed by Vapaz alongside Apharia)

Key Relationships: Vandrea (fled together; Vandrea was her protector); Madame Saiye (stepmother Ceval's wife after Resaipa; Apharia called her "mother" because of their matching blonde hair); Soli/Paxtino-Ekhasostio (lover and father of her child)

BACKGROUND

Childhood: Youngest daughter/"princess" of the City Lord — heavily protected from birth. Born a little sick, so extra care was always directed toward her. Mother died giving birth to her. Named after her maternal grandmother who also had blonde hair. Never met her birth mother. Close with stepmother Madame Saiye (who had the same blonde hair). When both Apharia and Madame Saiye fell sick with a deadly disease, Saiye nursed Apharia instead of herself. Vandrea and Enyokia disliked Madame Saiye but tolerated her for Apharia's sake.

Formative Events: Birth mother's death; Madame Saiye's selfless care during illness; fall of Vikistv; fleeing with Vandrea

Education/Training:

Before the Story Begins: Living the most sheltered life of the three sisters in Torad

Core Traits: Naive, curious, trusting, sheltered, loving

Greatest Fear:

Greatest Desire:

Fatal Flaw: Naivety - her sheltered upbringing left her unprepared for the consequences of loving a god

Secret They Keep: Her pregnancy by Soli (eventually revealed to Vandrea)

Weaknesses: Naivety; sheltered worldview; physically vulnerable

ARC & DEVELOPMENT

Where They Start: The baby of the family, sheltered and innocent, fleeing Vikistv with Vandrea

Key Turning Points:

1. Fleeing Vikistv; settling in Nedi Forest with Vandrea
2. Meeting Soli in the forest (he saves her from a bear)
3. Soli rejecting her friendship, then accepting it
4. Falling in love with Soli; becoming pregnant

5. Soli's confession that he is Paxtino and Ekhasostio (proven by killing and reviving a bird)
 6. Deciding to run away with Soli; revealing everything to Vandrea
 7. Vandrea letting her go (Soli promises to protect her, ensure she never witnesses blood or partakes in sadness)
- Where They End: Killed by Vapaz alongside her daughter, as punishment for Soli violating the First Divine Law. Her body is brought to Vandrea by Soli.
- Theme They Embody: Innocence destroyed by forces beyond comprehension.
- The person who "started" the War of the Gods through no malice of her own - through love.

Narrative Function: Her relationship with Soli triggers the Second War of the Gods and the chain of events that creates Vandrea's vengeance. Represents innocence caught between divine politics.

Key Scenes: Being chased by a bear and saved by Soli; waiting in the forest for Soli day after day; Soli's divine confession (bird scene); revealing the truth to Vandrea; departure from Vandrea

Relationships That Drive Plot: Soli (her pregnancy violates the First Divine Law); Vandrea (her death is the final blow that sends Vandrea to Renedin)

Impact on Other Characters: Her daughter's soul is reincarnated as Minara Gonia in Crown of Glory

NOTES

Name meaning: "Apharia" is the traditional Dorrenan word for "Joy"

Favorite colors: Pastel pink and pastel yellow

Named after her grandmother on her mother's side (who also had blonde hair)

Soli promised Vandrea that Apharia would "never witness blood again or partake in any great sadness"

- a promise broken by Vapaz

The gods/goddesses posthumously gave her the name "The Great Temptress"

Vandrea never received a response to the letter she sent Apharia about Enyokia's death

Apharia's daughter (unnamed) is reincarnated as Minara Gonia

Unresolved Questions:

- Exact birth date needed
- Daughter's name? (Currently unnamed)
- How much time passed between leaving Vandrea and being killed by Vapaz?
- Where were Apharia and Soli living when Vapaz found them?

Connections to Track:

- Minara Gonia = reincarnation of Apharia's daughter
- Vandrea's confrontation with Soli after receiving the bodies

ARC & DEVELOPMENT

Where They Start: City Lord of Torad, preparing for Enyokia's wedding to Natav

Key Turning Points: Hears news of Solis starting a war; Solis arrives in Vikistv and massacres people; rounds up high officials; Ceval is sentenced to death alongside Natav

Where They End: Before being dragged to execution, he escapes briefly and lights the red torch - a danger symbol to his people (fire can kill them) - warning that something terrible has happened. Then he is dragged back and executed (beheaded).

Theme They Embody: The father who tried to protect his children from a world that was already on fire

Narrative Function: The inciting loss - his execution triggers the separation of the three sisters and sets each on their diverging fates

Key Scenes: Hearing news of Solis's war; the conquest of Vikistv; lighting the red torch; execution Relationships That Drive Plot: His friendship with Sevtor made him one of the first targets; his execution leads to Enyokia's enslavement and Vandrea/Apharia's flight

Impact on Other Characters: His death sets the entire plot in motion

NOTES

Torad was a small village detached from the main city, serving as Vikistv's agricultural farm Ceval was the City Lord of Torad (not the High King/Queen - those are House Orana)

His friendship with Grand Sorcerer Sevtor made him a prime target - "naturally when Esterica was killed and Solis started killing off anyone from Vikistv they were some of the first to go" The red torch: A symbol of danger to the Vikistv people because fire can kill them. Ceval lit it as a warning before being dragged back to his execution.

According to Equateiy townspeople, Ceval and Natav were "burned by fire" - contradicts "beheaded" from other sources. [CONFIRM: Was he beheaded or burned? Both mentioned in different places in canon.]

Unresolved Questions:

- Execution method: beheaded or burned? (Canon doc says "beheaded" in one place, Equateiy townsman says "burned by fire" in another)
—Exact birth date needed
- What was his relationship with Madame Saiye like?
- His family background / how he became City Lord

Key Relationships: Royin Yailk of Torad (cousin); Ceval Asleleri (future father-in-law); House Yailk of Vikistv (noble house - Nationalist Party, dragon spirit animal, motto "Destroy our enemies and aid our people")

BACKGROUND

Childhood:

Formative Events:

Education/Training: Training to become Grand Sorcerer (set to take over after Sevtor's death)

Before the Story Begins: Taking over as Grand Sorcerer of Vikistv following Sevtor's death; engaged to Enyokia; the country is in mourning over Sevtor and the heirs of Vikistv

PERSONALITY

Core Traits:

Greatest Fear:

Greatest Desire: Self-preservation (ultimately chose his own life over his country)

Fatal Flaw: Cowardice - sold out Vikistv to Solis in an attempt to ensure he lived

Secret They Keep: His betrayal of Vikistv to Solis
What They Want vs What They Need:

BELIEFS & VALUES

Weaknesses: Cowardice

ARC & DEVELOPMENT

Where They Start: Set to become Grand Sorcerer, engaged to Enyokia, seemingly loyal to Vikistv
Key Turning Points: Secretly sells out Vikistv to Solis; is executed anyway despite his betrayal
Where They End: Executed alongside Ceval - his betrayal bought him nothing

Theme They Embodify: The collaborator who gains nothing - betrayal doesn't save you from the colonizer

ROLE IN STORY

Narrative Function: The traitor within - adds complexity to the conquest (it wasn't just external force, there was internal betrayal)

Key Scenes: Wedding preparations with Enyokia; Solis's arrival; his execution

Relationships That Drive Plot: His betrayal contributed to Vikistv's swift fall; Solis

spares Enyokia partly because of the implication she was “used” by Natav and her father

Impact on Other Characters: His treachery makes Enyokia’s enslavement worse - she was betrayed by her own fiancé

Narrative Function: Backstory presence - her death forced Enyokia into a maternal role at age 5 ; her non-Vikistian origin explains why Vandrea's tremendous magical power surprised people (not full Vikistian)

Key Scenes: Referenced in backstory only

Relationships That Drive Plot: Her early death shaped the dynamic between the three sisters

Impact on Other Characters: Enyokia is the only sibling who remembers her

NOTES

House Leum connection: Maiden name "Leum" connects her to House Leum of Vikistv (white rose crest, motto "Beloved are we"). However, canon states Vandrea's mother "was actually from Equateiy but she was of commoner origin." [CONFIRM: Is she from a Leum branch in Equateiy? Was she a commoner who married into Leum? Or has the origin been updated?]

"Tenami" reference: Canon doc refers to "their mother [Tenami]" - [CONFIRM: Is Tenami a nickname for Isenaylini, an old placeholder name, or a different person entirely?]

"Of Negiet": [CONFIRM - location of Negiet needed for LOCATIONS hub]

Enyokia is the only daughter who has memories of her

Unresolved Questions:

- Equateiy commoner vs. House Leum of Vikistv - need clarification on origin
- "Tenami" vs. "Isenaylini" - same person?
- Location of Negiet
- Cause of death

- Her relationship with Ceval - how did they meet?

Connections to Track:

- Explains Vandrea's half-Vikistian heritage and surprising magical power
- House Leum - any other connections to this house in the story?

NOTES

Apharia was named after Resaipa's mother (the grandmother) who also had blonde hair Apharia was born a little sick - extra care was directed toward her from birth After Resaipa's death, Ceval married Madame Saiye approximately one year later Apharia never met Resaipa but bonded with Madame Saiye partly because of the shared blonde hair

Unresolved Questions:

- Is "Mendreki" a house name or a commoner surname?

- Where was Resaipa from originally?
- What was her relationship with Enyokia and Vandrea? (They would have been ~ 6 and ~ 3 when she entered their lives)
- Did Resaipa have blonde hair like her mother?

Connections to Track:

- Apharia's blonde hair lineage (grandmother → possibly Resaipa → Apharia)
- Madame Saiye as replacement mother figure

[RENEDIN]

[The Old God / God of Dreams and the Eternal Plane]

 PROFILE ALREADY EXISTS IN HUB — UPDATE ONLY ***

The existing Renedin profile in the IN STORY CHARACTERS doc already contains NOTES covering:

- Endgame (wants to become chaos itself)
- Pre-war domain (God of Dreams and Eternal Plane)
- What the new gods did (defined reality to exclude him)
- What happens if the barrier breaks

FROM THE THREE SISTERS EXCERPT, ADD TO EXISTING NOTES:

Book(s) Featured In: ADD "A Tale of Three Sisters" (he appears as the whispering voice at the end) Role in Three Sisters: Does not appear physically. His voice is the whisper Vandrea hears at the end of the book, standing in a rose garden in Vikistv, asking her if she wants revenge. This is the moment that sets Vandrea on her 10,000-year path.

Also appears during A Princess in Love era: Buried himself in a non-physical form in the mindscape; gives Vandrea a power boost; wants her to bring destruction and destroy both gods and humans

ADD TO EXISTING NOTES SECTION:

- Three Sisters role: The whispering voice asking Vandrea if she wants revenge (end of book)
- He is not physically present in Three Sisters - only a voice
- His corruption of Vandrea begins here and continues through A Princess in Love and Crown of Glory
 - He is described as “not really dead but buried himself in a non-physical form, in the mindscape”

Unresolved Questions (add):

- Did Renedin target Vandrea specifically, or was she simply the first grief-stricken person he could reach?
 - Was the “faint voice” Vandrea heard earlier (telling her to kill the Equateiy townsman) also Renedin, or was that her own darkness?

A Tale of Three Sisters (~ 7, 214 BR to ~ 7, 100 BR)

NOTE: The book’s timeline header in existing canon says “ ~ 7, 214BR to 7, 208BR ” but also says “approximately 7,200 to 7,100 BR” elsewhere. The events described span several years (1.5 years on the run +7 months searching + additional time). The broader range (~ 7, 214 to ~ 7, 100BR) is likely more accurate. Dates below are approximations based on the narrative’s internal logic.

BEFORE THE STORY / BACKSTORY

[Years before story start]

- Isenaylini Leum/Asleleri (mother of Enyokia and Vandrea) dies when Enyokia is ~ 5, Vandrea is ~ 3 [CONFIRM: same as “Tenami”?]
- Ceval marries Resaipa Mendreki (second wife)
- Resaipa dies giving birth to Apharia; Apharia is born a little sick
 - ~ 1 year after Apharia’s birth: Ceval marries Madame Aimyeida (third wife)
- Apharia and Madame Aimyeida fall ill with a deadly disease; Aimyeida nurses Apharia instead of herself
- Enyokia takes on a maternal role, raising Vandrea and Apharia

- Vandrea is engaged to Heian Orana of House Orana
- Vandrea begins taking Haitak for anger management [~ 7, 250 BR - Events of A Tale of a Thousand Songs]
- Solis's civil war; death of Orcus and Iris
- Solis takes the throne of Aicruae
- Solis begins conquering remaining kingdoms
- Death of Grand Sorcerer Sevtor and the heirs of Vikistv (House Orana exterminated - Heian Orana killed)
- Death of Esterica (Harnua's assassination attempt; Esterica drinks the poisoned cup)
- Execution of Harnua (burned at stake; raises second moon)

ACT 1: THE FALL OF VIKISTV

(~7,214 BR)

1. OPENING - The story begins. Enyokia is 25 , Vandrea is 22 , Apharia is 19 . The country of Vikistv is in mourning over the death of Sevtor and the heirs of Vikistv. Natav Yailk is taking over as Grand Sorcerer. Enyokia is set to be his bride. The sisters are focused on the wedding, festivals, and celebrations.
2. RUMORS SPREAD - Word goes around that the King of Aicruae (Solis) has gone mad (following the death of Esterica and the burning of Harnua). There is a looming threat of war, but the main characters remain oblivious.
3. CEVAL HEARS THE NEWS - The girls' father, City Lord Ceval, hears that the King of Aicruae is starting a war and hopes to establish an empire in less than a month's time.
4. SOLIS ARRIVES IN VIKISTV - Solis arrives and begins massacring people. He rounds up all high officials.
5. NATAV'S BETRAYAL REVEALED - Natav had secretly sold the country out to Solis, trying to ensure his own survival.
6. CEVAL AND NATAV SENTENCED TO DEATH - Both are sentenced to execution. Ceval briefly escapes and lights the red torch (danger symbol — fire can kill Vikistv's people) to warn his people. He is recaptured and executed

(beheaded). [CONFIRM: Canon also says "burned by fire" via the Equateiy townsman - clarify method]

7. ENYOKIA SPARED BUT ENSLAVED - Solis spares Enyokia from execution, saying she was "probably just used by her father and fiancé." She is put into slavery to pay for her father's "debt."
8. VANDREA AND APHARIA ESCAPE - The two younger sisters were deep within the Silora Forest at the time of the attack. Vandrea uses her magic to shield them from soldiers as they cross the sea in a boat.

ACT 1 (CONTINUED): ON THE RUN

(~ 7, 214 to ~ 7, 213BR)

9. THE EQUATEIY TOWNSMAN SCENE - After escaping, Vandrea and Apharia (now in Equateiy) overhear a townsman talking about what happened in Vikistv. He calls them savages, says their father and Natav were burned by fire, and calls Enyokia "the common whore that she is." Vandrea hears a faint voice telling her to kill him. She slips into her thoughts and the man starts choking. This is the reader's first account of Vandrea tapping into death magic. She feels "the darkness from deep within her soul."

[QUESTION: Is this faint voice Renedin reaching out early, or Vandrea's own darkness?]

10. VANDREA REFERS TO SOLIS AS "THE ONE WITH GOLDEN HAIR" - Throughout Act 1, Vandrea doesn't know Solis by name because she was so sheltered she never learned about the outside world.

11. LYING LOW - Vandrea uses as much magic as possible to disguise them. They spend approximately a year and a half on the run.

ACT 2: THE NEDI FOREST

(~ 7, 213 to ~ 7, 211BR)

12. SETTLING IN NEDI FOREST - After ~ 1.5 years on the run, Vandrea and Apharia settle in the Nedi Forest in Equateiy. Life is simple but difficult without their former privileges. They seem happy and content.

13. VANDREA STARTS SELLING IN ASLWAL - Vandrea begins traveling to the nearby town of Aslwal to sell flowers, herbs, and wood, leaving Apharia alone for days at a time.

14. APHARIA MEETS SOLI - While retrieving berries, Apharia is chased by a bear.

She stumbles into a strange man who strikes the bear down with a wave of energy. She brings him home and asks to be his friend. He rejects her and leaves.

15. APHARIA WAITS FOR SOLI - Every time Vandrea leaves for Aslwal, Apharia returns to the spot in the forest where she met the man. She waits from noon to dark each day. He keeps her up at night thinking about him.

16. SOLI RETURNS - Two days before Vandrea is supposed to return, the man appears and agrees to be Apharia's friend, but says he can't meet her often.

17. APHARIA AND SOLI FALL IN LOVE - Over time, their friendship becomes romantic. Apharia becomes pregnant.

18. SOLI'S CONFESSION - When Apharia tells Soli she's pregnant (calling him her "one true love"), Soli is very concerned. He confesses that he is actually the gods Paxtino (god of rebirth, peace, and redemption) and Ekhasostio (god of vengeance, desire, and chaos) — two gods with different souls sharing one body. Apharia doesn't believe him until he picks up a bird, cracks its skull, and brings it back to life.

19. APHARIA'S DECISION - After feeling betrayed, Apharia gradually accepts reality. She decides she and Soli will run away together and hide from both gods and humans with their child.

20. APHARIA TELLS VANDREA - Apharia reveals everything. Vandrea disagrees but believes a god can protect Apharia better than she can. She lets Apharia go on the condition that Soli promises Apharia will never witness blood again or partake in any great sadness. Soli agrees.

ACT 3: THE FATES OF THE THREE SISTERS

(~ 7, 211 to ~ 7, 208BR)

21. VANDREA SEARCHES FOR ENYOKIA - With Apharia gone, Vandrea hears news of slaves from Vikistv and sets out to find Enyokia. She searches for 7 months.

22. VANDREA FINDS ENYOKIA'S GRAVE - Vandrea arrives in Gherci and finds an unmarked mass grave belonging to her sister and countless other Vikistv people. The locals claim Enyokia contracted a deadly illness and died 3 months after arriving in Gherci, where she was forced to build infrastructure for the Solisian Empire. Vandrea knows illness wouldn't kill her sister - Enyokia was most likely burned.

23. VANDREA REBURIES HER SISTER - She digs individual graves for Enyokia and the other Vikistv people. She cuts pieces of skin from near her thighs and locks of her hair and buries them with Enyokia.

24. VANDREA WRITES TO APHARIA - She sends a letter telling Aphia about Enyokia's death, then sets out to return to Equateiy.
25. NO RESPONSE FROM APHARIA - Even after arriving back in Equateiy, Vandrea has not received a single letter from Aphia. She believes Aphia is safe and happy.
26. SOLI ARRIVES WITH THE BODIES - One day, Soli comes to Vandrea's house carrying two bodies: Vandrea's niece (Aphia's daughter) and Aphia herself, badly wounded/dead.
27. SOLI'S EXPLANATION - Soli explains that as punishment for breaking one of the divine laws (the First Divine Law) and attempting to start a second war to protect his wife and daughter, the god Vapaz killed both Aphia and the child. Soli was spared because he is the child of Vapaz's sister Zopha.
28. VANDREA CASTS SOLI OUT - Vandrea, devastated that both sisters have died tragically, blames Soli, all the gods of new, and the humans. She vows revenge, casts Soli out, and warns that the next time she sees him she will kill him.
29. VANDREA BURIES APHARIA AND HER NIECE - She spends time holding their bodies and crying before burying them.

CLOSING: VANDREA'S RETURN TO VIKISTV (~ 7, 208 to ~ 7, 100BR)

1. VANDREA RETURNS TO VIKISTV - She walks through the streets and sees people worshipping the Circle of Eternal Light and statues of Solis everywhere. She sees visions of herself and her sisters.
2. BACK TO THE SILORA FOREST - She returns to the Silora Forest and grasps a dirty dahlia on the ground.
3. RENEDIN'S WHISPER - She hears a whispering voice asking her if she wants revenge. This is Renedin, the Old God, reaching out from his non-physical existence in the mindscape. Vandrea answering this voice sets her on the 10,000-year path that leads through A Princess in Love to Crown of Glory.

- CONCURRENT / OVERLAPPING EVENTS
(War of the Gods II — ~ 7, 200 to ~ 7, 100BR)

- Apharia's pregnancy violates the First Divine Law, triggering the War of the Gods II
 - The gods are in turmoil over a mortal-divine union
 - Vapaz kills Apharia and her daughter as punishment
 - Soli is spared because he is Zopha's child
 - The gods posthumously name Apharia "The Great Temptress"
 - The gods silently agree to stop creating saints (~ 7, 163BR, after Harnua's precedent of raising a moon)
- [NOTE: The War of the Gods II timeline overlaps with the sisters' story but its full scope extends beyond the events of this book. The war's trigger (Apharia's pregnancy) and its immediate mortal consequences (Apharia and her daughter's deaths) occur within the book's timeframe, but the broader divine conflict likely continues.]

VANDREA AND ENYOKIA - NARRATIVE RELEVANCE

VANDREA AND ENYOKIA - NARRATIVE USE

Enyokia's death in slavery is the wound at the center of Vandrea's character - the original loss that started her transformation. If Vandrea ever speaks about Enyokia (potentially in confrontation with Minara), it would represent one of the few moments where the real person beneath ten thousand years of deception surfaces. The specific guilt of choosing to run with Apharia instead of immediately rescuing Enyokia is what makes Vandrea's grief different from simple loss - it is grief compounded by the belief that she caused it through her own choices.

VANDREA - ROLE IN A TALE OF THREE SISTERS

Character Status: Major Character (one of the three titular sisters)

Age in Story: ~ 22 years old at start

Timeline: ~7,214 BR — ~ 7, 100BR

ROLE IN PLOT

Vandrea is the middle sister and the one who survives longest. The book follows her transformation from a hot-headed young woman with anger issues into someone who makes a devastating choice that will echo for 10,000 years.

Key Story Beats:

- Watches her father Ceval's execution by Solis during conquest of Vikistv
- Her fiancé Heian Orana killed alongside House Orana
- Escapes into Silora forest with youngest sister Apharia
- Agrees to let Apharia leave with Soli, believing a god can protect her better
- Spends 7 months searching for Enyokia, only to find her dead in Gherci
- Receives Apharia's and niece's corpses from Soli after Vapaz kills them
- Buries her last remaining family
- Hears Renedin's whispering voice asking if she wants revenge
- Answers yes, setting herself on 10,000 -year path

PERSONALITY IN THIS BOOK

- Hot-headed with anger management issues
- Regularly uses Haitak drug to manage anger
- Brash but feminine
- Never truly loved fiancé Heian - felt empty when he kissed her
- Fiercely protective of both sisters despite surface irritation
- Tremendous magical power surprising given mixed heritage

RELATIONSHIPS

- Enyokia: Complex love; relied on eldest sister as mother figure; didn't always appreciate her until too late
- Apharia: Protective of naive youngest sister; agrees to her leaving because she believes Soli can protect her better
- Soli: Initially accepts him for Apharia's sake; blames him after Apharia's death; casts him out with promise to kill him
- Heian Orana: Engaged but felt nothing romantic; mourned briefly as friend

THE TRANSFORMATION

The book's tragedy: Vandrea isn't born a monster. She's made one by:

- Losing everyone she loves in rapid succession
- The guilt of not saving Enyokia (chose to flee with Apharia instead of immediate rescue)
- The powerlessness of watching gods kill her last remaining sister
- Having no one left to be human for

When Renedin whispers to her after she buries Apharia and her niece, she has nothing left but grief and rage. Her answer begins the corruption of her soul.
