Heraldry

Crest: The crest is mounted upon a uniquely shaped shield featuring a bold triangular chevron design that points upward, creating a dynamic sense of movement and aspiration toward the horizon. The composition is divided into three main sections: two white triangular fields flank the top left and right, meeting at a peak, while a prominent chevron of deep blue cuts diagonally across each side, and the lower portion is rendered in solid black, representing the mysterious depths of the ocean. Golden or yellow crescent-shaped embellishments punctuate the white areas like breaking waves or navigational markers, adding decorative detail that speaks to the house's seafaring heritage. Dominating the center of the shield is an elaborate ship's wheel rendered in white with a bright blue inner circle, its eight spokes radiating outward like compass points, each spoke tipped in gold, with the wheel's central hub glowing yellow like a beacon or compass rose.

Symbolism: The wheel represents navigation, mastery of the seas, and the ability to chart one's own course through uncertain waters. The upward-pointing chevron structure suggests both the prow of a ship cutting through waves and the aspiration to reach new shores. The blue and black color progression from top to bottom mirrors the ocean's journey from sunlit surface to abyssal depths, reinforcing the house's conviction that "The Sea is where we must go."

Motto: "The Sea is where we must go."
