Why They Matter

[TBD]

Heraldry

Crest: A golden deer statant against alternating horizontal bars of royal blue and lighter azure, creating a striking striped pattern, representing both unity and collective strength. The deer is crowned with black antlers and stands alert and noble against the banded background, embodying the grace and communal nature expressed in their motto, 'Together we stand, and together we fall.'

Symbolism: The deer represents peace, harmony, and gentleness, but also wariness and the ability to sense danger. These are qualities suited to a house that values collective survival over individual glory. The horizontal bands symbolize the many members of their house standing shoulder to shoulder, equal in status and purpose. The golden deer represents the house itself: radiant and visible, but only as strong as the unified foundation beneath it.

Motto: "Together We Stand, and Together We Fall."
