Why They Matter

[TBD]

Heraldry

Crest: A white parrot with yellow beak, feet, and eye, perched upon a golden serpentine branch, set against a striking pattern of alternating black and blue bendlets (diagonal stripes).

Symbolism: The parrot, intelligent and swift, represents both rapid communication and the ability to navigate storms with grace and brilliance. In heraldic tradition, exotic birds symbolize nobility, eloquence, and the ability to thrive in foreign lands, while their colorful plumage suggests wealth and far-reaching connections. The diagonal pattern creates a sense of dynamic movement, like wind or falling rain. The alternating colors suggest the house's ability to move between different realms, darkness and light, war and peace, with equal facility and impact.

Motto: "Swift as the Wind and Mightier Than the Rain."
