Kurti Alpahebt

Aicruae speaks Ananara. This language sounds friendly and approachable. But there written language is called Kurti. The written language of Kurti is made up of 26 letters.

Gherci and Coleum speak the language of Speail aka the language of the wales. It is known for its long drawn-out syllables that are deep and bellowing.

Pireaynea speaks Pocorki, a country-like language with lots of crude and rude words that creates that country-like flair.

Vikistv speaks 3 major languages all a combination of different languages because Vikistv is like a city.

The first is Traer a combination of Speail and Pocorki.

The second is Jal'vae a combination of Speail and Ananara

The third is Dorrena a combination of Kurti and Audru

Equateiy Speaks two languages Audru, and Lato. Lato is a romantic and fancy-sounding language. Audru is a rural language that sounds very aggressive.

Numbers in Kurti are created using plug on numbers. For example, if you wanted to make twenty-five you would have to combine the symbol for the number two with the symbol number five. If wanted to create a number like one hundred you would use the symbol for the number one and two symbols of the number zero and combine them. Kurti is a simple enough language, and an alphabet is provided that helps translate the symbols into their English counterparts.
