Name Evolution Across Eras

How each territory's name evolves across the three eras. Seas that are renamed are noted separately.

The borders of the known world have been redrawn twice since the age of independent kingdoms. What began as six sovereign nations became an empire of duchies and kingdoms under new names, and then was restructured again into the late imperial order that persists into Minara's time. Below is a record of how each territory's identity has shifted across the three major eras.

Territories

The Six Kingdoms Era(~8,900 BR -7,163 BR) → Crandona's Era (~1-50 AR) → Minara's Era (~2,632 AR)

Aicruae → Tanan Grand Duchy (Capital:Tericaer) → Kingdom of Lajazer (Capital: Vellin)

Gherci → Caporiolan Kingdom (Capital: Baviet) → Kingdom of Tarmet (Capital: Bela) — Overall Capital of the Entire Empire

Pireaynea → Lingia (Capital:Haleret) → Kingdom of Civer (Capital: Lorne)

Coelum → Hikai(Capital: Osenki) → Kingdom of Atriki (Capital: Elgan)

Equateiy → Uxridian Grand Duchy(Capital:Rewalen) → Kingdom of Ociyaran (Capital: Zada)

Vikitsv → Theolisseia (Hadirel) → Kingdom of Berlailia (Capital: Zemela)

The Mystic Isles → Thult → Thult (no political boundary drawn)

Aicruae, the westernmost kingdom and birthplace of the Patton dynasty, was reorganized into the Tanan Grand Duchy after the empire's formation during Crandona's Era. By Minara's Era it had been renamed again to the Kingdom of Lajazer, with its new capital at Vellin. Of the six kingdoms, Lajazer is one of two that holds impartial standing toward the empire.

Gherci, once the largest and most populous nation on the continent, became the Caporiolan Kingdom during Crandona's Era and served as the Imperial Seat. By Minara's Era it was renamed the Kingdom of Tarmet, with its capital moved to Bela. Tarmet remains the overall capital of the entire empire and holds the highest rank in the kingdom hierarchy.

Pireaynea, long known as "The Demon's Pit" for its lawlessness, was absorbed into the empire as Lingia during Crandona's Era. By Minara's Era it became the Kingdom of Civer, with its capital at Lorne. Despite its troubled history, Civer proved richer than expected in the late empire due to its mines.

Coelum, the impoverished northern wasteland sometimes called "The Forsaken Land," was renamed Hikai during Crandona's Era. By Minara's Era it became the Kingdom of Atriki, with its capital at Elgan. Atriki sits at the bottom of the kingdom hierarchy, mainly comprised of farmers and low-ranking merchants.

Equateiy, once the wealthiest independent nation in the world, was reorganized into the Uxridian Grand Duchy during Crandona's Era. By Minara's Era it became the Kingdom of Ociyaran, with its capital at Zada. Ociyaran shares the second-highest rank in the kingdom hierarchy alongside Lajazer.

Vikitsv, the mountain kingdom and heartland of organized magic, became Theolisseia during Crandona's Era. By Minara's Era it was renamed the Kingdom of Berlailia, with its capital at Zemela. Berlailia holds the third rank, home to few aristocrats and some low-ranked magicians.

The Mystic Isles, the sacred archipelago southwest of Aicruae that technically belonged to no king, was renamed Thult during Crandona's Era. By Minara's Era, Thult persists but has no political boundary drawn around it. Once believed to be a link between the world of the gods and the world of mortals, the isles are now barren and desertified.

Seas

The Six Kingdoms Era(~8,900 BR -7,163 BR) → Crandona's Era (~1–50 AR) → Minara's Era (~2,632 AR)

The Oberyia Sea → Orburydon Sea → The Oberyia Sea (name reverts)

The Fetora Sea → Thult (Southern Waters) → The Fetora Sea (name reverts)

The Quather Sea → The Quather Sea (unchanged) → The Quather Sea (unchanged)

Henem Bay → [TBD] → The Henem Bay

The seas have not been immune to renaming. The Oberyia Sea, which borders the northeastern and eastern coastline, was renamed the Orburydon Sea during Crandona's Era before reverting to its original name by Minara's time. The Fetora Sea, which runs along the southern coastline, was briefly known as Thult (Southern Waters) during Crandona's Era — likely reflecting the expansion of the Thult designation across the southern reaches — before also reverting to the Fetora Sea by Minara's Era. The Quather Sea, bordering the western coast, is the only major body of water to retain its name unchanged across all three eras.

Henem Bay, the small northern coastline, also appears to persist, though whether it carried a different name during Crandona's Era is not recorded as it not featured on any maps from that era.
