

THE SIX KINGDOMS 8,900BR - 7,163 BR MAP

The Six Kingdoms (~8,900 BR -7,163 BR)

For nearly two thousand years, six independent kingdoms divided the continent between their own laws, culture, and livelihood. They traded, warred, married across borders, and quietly despised one another, until a civil war in the west produced an emperor who swallowed them all.

Aicruae

" The Land under the sun"

- Capital: Lajazer
- Founded: 8,759 BR
- Dates: 8,759 BR - 7,217 BR. Solis's homeland. Came under his control 7,217 BR (end of the Civil War), not a conquest.
- Founder: King Hailour Layern Patton I
- Population: 120 million
- Royal House: House Patton
- Note: Feudal Monarchy
- Currency: Rern (~$20 USD)
- Religion: Circle of Eternal Light (Razar)
- Parallel: Medieval France

The continent's breadbasket: wealthy, pious, and perpetually unstable. Aicruae produced 48% of the world's food from its western farmlands while its nobles houses schemed, bribed, and occasionally murdered their way through court politics. The civil war that ended this era started here.

later: Tanan Grand Duchy → Kingdom of Lajazer

Gherci

"The Land of Eternal Silence"

- Capital: Tarmet
- Founded: 8,763 BR
- Dates: 8,763 BR - 7,215 BR. Diplomatically absorbed ~7,215 BR. Renamed Caporiolan Kingdom by Solis.
- Founder: Saint Duri
- Population: 389 million
- Royal House: House Mava
- Note: Theocratic Monarchy
- Currency: Miuae (~$26 USD)
- Religion: Circle of Eternal Light (theocratic)
- Parallel: Byzantine Empire / Ethiopia

The continent's largest and most populous nation — a theocratic powerhouse where priests outranked kings and The Teire's Main Master held supreme authority over matters of faith. Gherci's 78% female population (a legacy of the Battle of Relirian's devastation) shaped a society unlike any other on the continent.

later: Caporiolan Kingdom → Kingdom of Tarmet

Pireaynea

"The Demon's Pit"

- Capital: Civer
- Founded: 7,400 BR
- Dates: 7,400 BR - 7,216 BR. Conquered ~7,216 BR. Renamed Lingia by Solis.
- Founder: Deasn of Gherci
- Population: 67 Million
- Royal House: [None]

- Note: Weak, country.
- Currency: Brezeryiol (~$17 USD)
- Religion: Allan (monotheism)
- Parallel: Medieval Southern Italy / Sicily

Founded by a seventeen-year-old exile fleeing treason charges in Gherci, Pireaynea never outgrew its chaotic origins. Rich agricultural land went to waste under decentralized warlord rule, earning it the nickname "The Demon's Pit" for its rampant banditry and violent crime. The only monotheistic nation on the continent, worshipping Allan exclusively.

later: Lingia → Kingdom of Civer

Coelum

"The Land of Sand and Time" "The Forsaken Land"

- Capital: Atriki
- Founded: 8,494 BR
- Dates: 8,494 BR- 7,215 BR. Absorbed by decree ~7,215–7,214 BR. Renamed Hikai by Solis.
- Founder: Yuavekio the Wise
- Population: Dwindled (mass exodus)
- Royal House: [None, line failed]
- Note: Failed State
- Currency: Opeali (~$5 USD)
- Religion: Mostly atheist
- Parallel: Medieval Scotland / Iceland

A cautionary tale in nation form. Yuavekio "the Wise" an ironic title for a drunken gambler founded Coelum and promptly bankrupted it, saddling the country with a debt to Equateiy and Vikitsv that never got paid off. Wars and plagues emptied its villages. Its people abandoned the gods entirely. Those who stayed became known, paradoxically, for their kindness.

later: Hikai → Kingdom of Atriki

Equateiy

"The Kingdom of Gold" "The Land of Secrets" "Place of sin"

- Capital: Ociyaran
- Founded: 8,900 BR
- Dates: 8,900 BR- 7,167 BR . Joined the empire on its own terms ~7,167 BR via treaty (War of Ociyaran ended in a draw). Renamed Uxridian Grand Duchy by Solis.
- Founder: Yemaser of House Kivier
- Population: 97 Million
- Royal House: House Kivier (Unoffical)
- Note: Oligarchy
- Currency: Pel (~$50 USD)
- Religion: Circle of Eternal Light
- Parallel: Republic of Venice / Florence

The oldest and wealthiest nation on the continent a kingdom with no king, run by the secretive House Kivier from behind a veil of banking houses and jewel mines. Equateiy's Pel was the world's strongest currency, and its financial leverage reached into every other nation through loans, trade deals, and the quiet funding of foreign dissidents. Smiling in person, scheming behind the scenes.

later: Uxridian Grand Duchy → Kingdom of Ociyaran

Vikitsv

"The Floating Land"

- Capital: Berlailia
- Founded: 7,945 BR

- Dates: 7,945 BR- 7,175 BR. Capital fell ~7,214 BR. Fully pacified ~7,175 BR after forty years of guerrilla resistance. Renamed Theolisseia by Solis.
- Founder: Grand Mage Verna
- Population: ~46 Million
- Royal House: House Orana / Council of Scholars
- Note: Magocracy
- Currency: Kis (~$30 USD)
- Religion: Iswan (Goddess of Alchemy)
- Parallel: Joseon Korea / Tibet

A mountain kingdom perched atop Mount Aicren the coldest place in the known world, a three-month journey to reach, and home to the only institution capable of training wizards. The Magic Tower controlled Vikitsv's economy through the exclusive production of magical tools no other nation could replicate. Its people were known for their blue hair and blue eyes.

later: Theolisseia → Kingdom of Berlailia

Major Seas & Bodies of Water

- The Quather Sea — Northwest : borders Aicruae's western coast. Primary fishing and trade route.
 - The Fetora Sea: South, shared coastline between Vikitsv, Pireaynea, and Aicruae.
 - The Oberyia Sea: Northeast, borders Equateiy and Vikitsv. Long-distance trade route.
 - Henem Bay: North, inland bay north of Coelum. Gherci's northern port access.

Continental Power Blocs

The Religious Alliance (West): Aicruae and Gherci bound by shared devotion to the Circle of Eternal Light, royal intermarriage, and extensive trade. Gherci supplied temple wares and pilgrims; Aicruae supplied food and fish. Together they formed the continent's dominant cultural and military bloc, though Gherci sometimes treated Aicruae as a junior partner.

The Secular-Commercial Axis (East): Equateiy and Vikitsv allied by shared secularism, economic pragmatism, and opposition to Gherci's theocratic influence. Equateiy provided financial leverage; Vikitsv provided magical exclusivity. Both held Coelum's debt and used it as a pawn.

The Periphery: Coelum too poor and broken to choose sides, leaning toward whoever held its purse strings (usually Equateiy). Pireaynea too chaotic to maintain coherent alliances, serving instead as a buffer zone, mercenary pool, and staging ground for everyone else's schemes.

Mystic Isles : Nominally claimed ~7,210 BR. Renamed Thult by Solis. No garrison, no governor. Listed under Neutral Territories on this site due to its contested/sacred status.

What Comes Next

The Aicruan Civil War (7,222–7,217 BR) ended with Solis Elias Patton conquering all six kingdoms and forging them into the Solisian Empire. Every nation was renamed, re-bordered, and reorganized under imperial authority. Aicruae became the Tanan Grand Duchy. Gherci became the Caporiolan Kingdom, seat of the empire. Pireaynea became Lingia. Coelum became Hikai. Equateiy became the Uxridian Grand Duchy. Vikitsv became Theolisseia. Even the Mystic Isles were claimed and renamed Thult.

By Minara's Era (~2,632 AR), the names shifted again each territory now identified by its capital city rather than its old kingdom name. The continent that once held six sovereign nations had become six kingdoms within a single empire, each still carrying the scars of what it used to be.

SOLIS'S CONQUEST OF THE REMAINING KINGDOMS (~7,216 BR – ~7,168 BR)

Synopsis: After winning the Aicruan Civil War in 7,217 BR, Solis spent the next forty-nine years conquering every kingdom on the continent.

Pireaynea, Gherci, and Coelum fell within two years. Vikitsv's mountain terrain enabled a forty-year guerrilla campaign. Only after fully pacifying Vikitsv did Solis turn to Equateiy, whose six-year war with the empire ended in a draw. Equateiy joined on its own terms. By ~7,168 BR, all six kingdoms were united under a single crown.

NOTE ON PIREAYNEA'S FOUNDING DATE: Canon confirms Pireaynea was founded in 7,400 BR by Deasn of Gherci (per TIMELINE and KEY WORDS docs). The LOCATIONS hub doc listing of 7,200 BR is an error.

NOTE ON GHERCI'S FOUNDING DATE: Canon confirms Gherci was founded in 8,763 BR by Saint Duri (per TIMELINE, KEY WORDS, and Warriors' Age overview). The LOCATIONS hub doc reference to 8,663 BR is a typo (off by exactly 100 years).

[~7,216 BR]

Event: Conquest of Pireaynea — Renamed Lingia

Location: Pireaynea (border corridor from Haleker to Civer)

Key Figures: Emperor Solis Elias Patton

Significance: Pireaynea was the first kingdom to fall after the civil war. The country had no centralized army and no functioning government capable of organizing a defense. Its warlords had already been exploited by both sides during the civil war — rebel factions recruited Pireaynean fighters with promises of loot, while loyalists bribed Pireaynean lords to deny passage to rebels. Solis placed Pireaynea under direct military control and renamed it Lingia. Canon confirms: "its anarchy [was] subdued by imperial troops."

Book Reference: A Tale of a Thousand Songs, Ch. 66–70

[~7,215 BR]

Event: Absorption of Gherci — Renamed Caporiolan Kingdom

Location: Gherci (Tarmet, The Teire)

Key Figures: Emperor Solis Elias Patton, House Mava, The Teire

Significance: Gherci had backed Solis financially during the civil war after Princess Kamerida's assassination cemented their alliance. The hub doc describes Gherci as "somewhat the senior partner" who "never sought to conquer Aicruae" but viewed it as a "necessary counterpart." Gherci was designated the Caporiolan Kingdom — the seat of the empire itself — suggesting the absorption preserved some degree of Ghercian prestige. The specifics of how this transition was negotiated are [TBD].

Confirmed by timeline: Enyokia Asleleri was later sent to Gherci to "build infrastructure for the Solisian Empire," meaning Gherci was under imperial authority before Vikitsv fell (~7,214 BR).

Book Reference: A Tale of a Thousand Songs, Ch. 66–70

[~7,215 BR]

Event: Absorption of Coelum — Renamed Hikai

Location: Coelum (Atriki)

Key Figures: Emperor Solis Elias Patton

Significance: Canon confirms Coelum was "easily absorbed as a vassal since it had no strength to resist." The country had no army, no functioning government, and its economy was collapsed. Its two creditor nations — Equateiy and Vikitsv, to whom Coelum owed 40% of national earnings — were in no position to object. Duke Reasaec Kivier of Equateiy had been beheaded by Solis in 7,217 BR, and House Orana of Vikitsv had been burned alive the same year.

Canon describes Coelum's pre-imperial alignment: it "leaned toward Equateiy/Vikitsv (because they owned its debt) and would likely align against any Gherci-Aicruae bloc if pushed. But Coelum's contribution was minimal." The renaming to Hikai "marked the formal end of Coelum's nominal independence."

[INFERRED: Coelum's 40% debt payments to Equateiy and Vikitsv were likely dissolved upon imperial absorption, as the empire would not honor payments to nations it was conquering. Not stated in canon.]

[~7,214 BR]

Event: Fall of Vikitsv's Capital — Beginning of Resistance

Location: Vikitsv (Berlailia, Torad, Mount Aicren)

Key Figures: Emperor Solis Elias Patton, City Lord Ceval Asleleri, Natav Yailk, Enyokia Asleleri, Vandrea Asleleri, Apharia Asleleri

Significance: Canon from A Tale of Three Sisters confirms the following sequence:

1. Word reaches Vikitsv that "the King of Aicruae has gone mad" (following Esterica's death and Harnua's execution, both 7,214 BR). Ceval hears that Solis "is starting a war and hopes to establish an empire in less than a month's time."
2. Solis arrives in Vikitsv and begins massacring people. He rounds up all high officials.
3. Natav Yailk — the incoming Grand Sorcerer and Enyokia's fiancé — had secretly sold the country out to Solis, trying to ensure his own survival.
4. Ceval and Natav are both sentenced to death. Ceval briefly escapes and lights the red torch (a danger symbol — fire can kill Vikitsv's people) to warn his people. He is recaptured and executed. [UNRESOLVED: execution method is "beheaded" in one source, "burned by fire" in another.]
5. Enyokia is spared but enslaved. Solis says she was "probably just used by her father and fiancé." She is put into slavery to pay for her father's "debt."
6. Vandrea and Apharia escape into the Silora Forest and flee across the sea to Equateiy.
7. Enyokia is sent to Gherci (now the Caporiolan Kingdom) to build infrastructure for the empire. She dies approximately three months after arriving. Officially: deadly illness. Vandrea believes Enyokia "was most likely burned," reasoning that illness wouldn't kill her sister. Her body is dumped in an unmarked mass grave.

The fall of the capital also coincided with Solis's empire-wide persecution of magic users (launched post-7,214 BR after Esterica's death). Canon confirms this purge:

- "Drove magic users into flight from Vikitsv and Equateiy"

- "Created a magic-user diaspora across the empire"
- "Established a precedent of state persecution of magical ability that persisted for generations"
- "Created conditions for 'black-market sorcery' in the interim"

The Magic Tower — which had been the institution that "held all the country's power" and whose exports "no other nation could replicate" — was stripped of its practitioners after House Orana's destruction (7,217 BR) and the subsequent purge. The physical tower was repurposed by the empire for non-magical use. [TBD — specific function.]

The Arvento-Vikitsv trade partnership that had produced Gifted Objects was disrupted by the purge. [INFERRED: the degree of disruption is uncertain. Canon confirms "black-market sorcery" survived, suggesting some magical practice continued underground.]

[~7,214 – ~7,175 BR]

Event: The Vikitsv Mountain Resistance

Location: The highlands and peaks of Mount Aicren, Vikitsv

Key Figures: Nationalist Party remnants, House Yailk loyalists, imperial forces

Significance: Canon confirms that "Vikitsv's open opposition led to forcible integration" and that "imperial armies eventually purged Vikitsv's nationalist core." The word "eventually" indicates prolonged resistance. Vikitsv's geography supports a decades-long campaign: the country sits atop Mount Aicren (the coldest place in the known world), takes three months to reach on average, and many have died venturing up the mountain. House Yailk's Nationalist Party (motto: "Destroy our enemies and aid our people") would have been among the factions resisting.

[INFERRED: ~40 years of resistance based on the gap between the capital's fall (~7,214 BR) and the need for Vikitsv to be fully pacified before the War of Ociyaran began (~7,174 BR). Confirmed by Vicky as reasonable given Vikitsv's terrain. The specific military details of this campaign are not described in canon.]

When resistance ended, Vikitsv was formally renamed Theolisseia and placed under full imperial administration. Only then did Solis redirect forces toward Equateiy.

Canon also confirms that by the time Vandrea returns to Vikitsv (~7,208–7,100 BR), she sees "people worshipping the Circle of Eternal Light and statues of Solis everywhere" — indicating full cultural integration had occurred.

[~7,174 – ~7,168 BR]

Event: The War of Ociyaran (The War of Coin / The War of Gesdic / The Great Devourer)

Location: Equateiy (centered on the approaches to Ociyaran)

Key Figures: Emperor Solis Elias Patton (age ~76–82, commanding from behind lines — too old to fight), Gesdic Benen (commoner, rose to Marquess at age 32), House Kivier, the First Movement Party of Equateiy

Significance: The final war of Solis's conquest. Equateiy was the wealthiest nation in the world, backed by the Pel (the highest-valued currency on the continent at $50 each), House Kivier's banking empire, and the First Movement Party — the political faction that "prioritizes the military and law enforcement and believes that the government should do everything in its power to defend its people."

The war earned four names:

- "The War of Ociyaran" — geographic, centered on the capital
- "The War of Coin" — reflecting the economic devastation on both sides
- "The War of Gesdic" — honoring its most celebrated soldier
- "The Great Devourer" — reflecting the extreme casualties on both sides

Gesdic Benen, a commoner with no noble blood or connections, rose from common soldier to Marquess during the war. The war's complexity and scale allowed a thirty-two-year-old with no pedigree to achieve a promotion that would have been impossible in peacetime.

The war ended in a draw. Equateiy joined the empire on its own terms, receiving the designation "Grand Duchy" — a title that preserved its dignity. Canon describes House Kivier as "smiling in person, scheming behind the scenes" — consistent with a negotiated settlement that protected their interests. Equateiy became the Uxridian Grand Duchy.

For his service, Gesdic Benen was granted lands in the Caporiolan Kingdom (formerly Gherci) and founded House Benen. The Marquess Benen title passed down through his line for over seven thousand years. A distant descendant holding the same title later married the eleven-year-old Hicksora Connorrita during Crandona's Era. Canon confirms this Marquess Benen was "a twenty-seven-year-old man who was given Hicksora in marriage" and that "his rank (Marquess) was below Hicksora's pre-marriage status."

[~7,210 BR]

Event: Nominal Claim of the Mystic Isles — Renamed Thult

Location: The Mystic Isles (isolated archipelago southwest of Aicruae)

Key Figures: Emperor Solis Elias Patton

Significance: Canon confirms the Mystic Isles were "never firmly colonized by any Aicruan king" and that "local legend holds these lush isles are a sacred realm of the gods." Canon also confirms "many who venture there never return" and that they were "left undisturbed by Aicruae's monarchs." Renamed Thult under the empire.

Book Reference: [TBD]

[~7,168 BR]

Event: Empire Complete — All Six Kingdoms United

Location: Empire-wide

Key Figures: Emperor Solis Elias Patton (age ~82)

Significance: With Equateiy's negotiated entry, Solis completed the unification of all six kingdoms. Canon confirms: Solis died at age 87 in 7,163 BR "after ruling for 53 years." His eldest son Maen (age 54) took the throne and "renames the empire the 'Solisian Empire.'" Canon also notes Maen "produced no heirs despite three wives" and ruled 23 years until his death in 7,140 BR, when the throne passed to Princess Coyre's eldest son.

[~1,852 AR]

Event: Astyan II's Reforms — Third Renaming of the Territories

Location: Empire-wide

Key Figures: Emperor Astyan II

Significance: Canon confirms that "approximately 780 years before Minara's era, Emperor Astyan II implemented reforms that reversed the worst cruelties of Pataoiut." As part of these reforms, the empire's territories underwent their third renaming. Each territory was elevated to kingdom status and identified by its capital city. The wiki nav structure confirms these names:

Aicruae → Tanan Grand Duchy → Kingdom of Lajazer
Gherci → Caporiolan Kingdom → Kingdom of Tarmet
Pireaynea → Lingia → Kingdom of Civer
Coelum → Hikai → Kingdom of Atriki
Equateiy → Uxridian Grand Duchy → Kingdom of Ociyaran

Map of the world during the 7,250 BR — The Civil War Period — 7,217 BR

Name Evolution Across Eras

How each territory's name evolves across the three eras. Seas that are renamed are noted separately.

The borders of the known world have been redrawn twice since the age of independent kingdoms. What began as six sovereign nations became an empire of duchies and kingdoms under new names, and then was restructured again into the late imperial order that persists into Minara's time. Below is a record of how each territory's identity has shifted across the three major eras.

Territories

The Six Kingdoms Era(~8,900 BR -7,163 BR) → Crandona's Era (~1-50 AR) → Minara's Era (~2,632 AR)

Aicruae → Tanan Grand Duchy (Capital:Tericaer) → Kingdom of Lajazer (Capital: Vellin)

Gherci → Caporiolan Kingdom (Capital: Baviet) → Kingdom of Tarmet (Capital: Bela) — Overall Capital of the Entire Empire

Pireaynea → Lingia (Capital:Haleret) → Kingdom of Civer (Capital: Lorne)

Coelum → Hikai(Capital: Osenki) → Kingdom of Atriki (Capital: Elgan)

Equateiy → Uxridian Grand Duchy(Capital:Rewalen) → Kingdom of Ociyaran (Capital: Zada)

Vikitsv → Theolisseia (Hadirel) → Kingdom of Berlailia (Capital: Zemela)

The Mystic Isles → Thult → Thult (no political boundary drawn)

Aicruae, the westernmost kingdom and birthplace of the Patton dynasty, was reorganized into the Tanan Grand Duchy after the empire's formation during Crandona's Era. By Minara's Era it had been renamed again to the Kingdom of Lajazer, with its new capital at Vellin. Of the six kingdoms, Lajazer is one of two that holds impartial standing toward the empire.

Gherci, once the largest and most populous nation on the continent, became the Caporiolan Kingdom during Crandona's Era and served as the Imperial Seat. By Minara's Era it was renamed the Kingdom of Tarmet, with its capital moved to Bela. Tarmet remains the overall capital of the entire empire and holds the highest rank in the kingdom hierarchy.

Pireaynea, long known as "The Demon's Pit" for its lawlessness, was absorbed into the empire as Lingia during Crandona's Era. By Minara's Era it became the Kingdom of Civer, with its capital at Lorne. Despite its troubled history, Civer proved richer than expected in the late empire due to its mines.

Coelum, the impoverished northern wasteland sometimes called "The Forsaken Land," was renamed Hikai during Crandona's Era. By Minara's Era it became the Kingdom of Atriki, with its capital at Elgan. Atriki sits at the bottom of the kingdom hierarchy, mainly comprised of farmers and low-ranking merchants.

Equateiy, once the wealthiest independent nation in the world, was reorganized into the Uxridian Grand Duchy during Crandona's Era. By Minara's Era it became the Kingdom of Ociyaran, with its capital at Zada. Ociyaran shares the second-highest rank in the kingdom hierarchy alongside Lajazer.

Vikitsv, the mountain kingdom and heartland of organized magic, became Theolisseia during Crandona's Era. By Minara's Era it was renamed the Kingdom of Berlailia, with its capital at Zemela. Berlailia holds the third rank, home to few aristocrats and some low-ranked magicians.

The Mystic Isles, the sacred archipelago southwest of Aicruae that technically belonged to no king, was renamed Thult during Crandona's Era. By Minara's Era, Thult persists but has no political boundary drawn around it. Once believed to be a link between the world of the gods and the world of mortals, the isles are now barren and desertified.

Seas

The Six Kingdoms Era(~8,900 BR -7,163 BR) → Crandona's Era (~1–50 AR) → Minara's Era (~2,632 AR)

The Oberyia Sea → Orburydon Sea → The Oberyia Sea (name reverts)

The Fetora Sea → Thult (Southern Waters) → The Fetora Sea (name reverts)

The Quather Sea → The Quather Sea (unchanged) → The Quather Sea (unchanged)

Henem Bay → [TBD] → The Henem Bay

The seas have not been immune to renaming. The Oberyia Sea, which borders the northeastern and eastern coastline, was renamed the Orburydon Sea during Crandona's Era before reverting to its original name by Minara's time. The Fetora Sea, which runs along the southern coastline, was briefly known as Thult (Southern Waters) during Crandona's Era — likely reflecting the expansion of the Thult designation across the southern reaches — before also reverting to the Fetora Sea by Minara's Era. The Quather Sea, bordering the western coast, is the only major body of water to retain its name unchanged across all three eras. Henem Bay, the small northern coastline, also appears to persist, though whether it carried a different name during Crandona's Era is not recorded as it not featured on any maps from that era.

The renamed designations (Lingia, Caporiolan Kingdom, etc.) were applied by Solis during his conquest era (7,216–7,167 BR). The Solisian Empire was formally codified after his death in 7,163 BR with these names already in place."
